In 1999, a television company in Britain made a very popular programme called The 1900 House. They changed an ordinary house in a street in London so it was 16 a house from the year 1900. For example, it had no electricity, just gas for the lights and the kitchen. The toilet was outside in the garden, and all the furniture was from 1900 or before.

Then found a family—the Browns—to live in the house for three months. 17 people in the family lived in the house: Paul and Joyce Brown, their daughters, Kathryn, Ruth and Hilary and their son, Joe. For three months, while they were living in the house, they had to wear Victorian (维多利亚时代的) clothes and live like people 18. For example, they didn't wash their hair with shampoo but with something else like lemon. They didn't have a washing machine so they had to wash their clothes by hand, and they had to use the toilet outside in the garden. But the family didn't have to go shopping.

19, the TV company did all their shopping for them. There were 20 inside the house to make videos of the family's everyday life, and the Browns talked on television about their experiences. Here are some of the things that Hilary said later about her time in the house.

"Some things were 21—we had to find things in the evenings, because there was no television or computer, and we had to work hard to clean the house and to cook our food. Since there weren't enough rooms, my sister and I had to 22 a bedroom and a bed. It was fun—and we didn't have to go to school every day, that was nice. But I don't want to do it again. I think I'd like to live in the future, not the past!"

阅读短文, 从每题所给的四个选项中, 选出一个最佳答案。

Section A

Americans with small families own a small car or a large one. If both parents are working, they usually have two cars. When the family becomes larger, one of the cars is sold and they will buy a van.

A small car can hold four people and a large car can hold six persons but it is very crowded. A van holds seven people easily, so a family with three children could ask their grandparents to go on a holiday all together.

Mr Hagen and his wife had the third child last year. This made them sell their second car and buy a van. The sixth and seventh seats of the van are used to put other things, for a family of five must carry many suitcases when they travel. They arrive at their grandparents' home, the two seats which hold the suitcases can then carry the grandparents.

Americans call vans motor homes. A motor home is always used for holidays. When a family is traveling to the mountains or to the seaside, they can live in their motor home for a few days. All the members of a big family can enjoy a happier life when they are travelling together. That is why motor homes have become very popular. And also there are many parks for motor homes in America.
