第二节：书面表达（满分 25 分）

Dear Jamie,

I'm sorry to know that you're having such a bad time at the moment. Everyone has their ups and downs, so when things go wrong, don't feel too bad. You should learn to control your temper so that you may not do or say anything bad. I think you can make it if you follow the advice below.

First, don't keep things to yourself; try to share your problems with others, which is a good way of letting your anger out without hurting people or yourself. Second, go outdoors and play team games with your friends, which can make you forget all the unpleasant things. Third, remain optimistic about your future. Such a positive attitude can be helpful in lifting your spirits.

I hope you'll soon feel calmer and carry on as normal.

*Yours,
Li Hua*

听力原文

Text 1

M: I hope it'll turn out fine tomorrow. I'm going hiking with Tom.

W: Oh, I think it will be sunny.

M: Great! Are you sure?

W: Yes, I heard it on TV just now.

Text 2

W: Here is a 20-dollar bill. Give me two tickets for tonight's show please.

M: Sure. Two tickets and here's $ 2.40 change.

W: Thanks.

Text 3

M: How about going to see the play Tea House tonight. Julia?

W: I'm sorry, Paul. My mother is going to New York to visit my sister, and I have to drive her to the station. How about some other time?

M: Well, OK. We can go together some other day.

Text 4

W: I enjoy all kinds of sports. What sport do you like?

M: Football had appealed to me very much before I learned to play tennis.

Now I think nothing can compare with basketball.

Text 5

W: How do you find the book I recommended, Mike? I think it's not too bad and worth reading.

M: Well, to be honest, I've found something more exciting.

Text 6

M: Well, how do you feel now?

W: A bit cold, and my head aches terribly. I must have knocked it on the windscreen when my car went into the tree.

M: Well, you've got a cut on your head. You were lucky that you had fastened your safety belt. Otherwise you could have been killed or hurt badly.

W: I won't have to stay in hospital, will I?

M: No, I think you'll be well enough to go home. Nothing serious. The nurse will dress your wound, and then you'd better lie down and rest for half an hour at least. We'll give you this medicine for the wound and some painkilling pills.

Text 7

W: Hi, Ryan, what's up?

M: Oh, unluckily I didn't make it in my advanced maths exam.

W: That's because your primary lessons are poor. Don't give up.

M: That's not all. I feel like such a fool here. With no computer or cell phone or something popular among you, I feel lonely.

W: In my view, studying is our main task now.

M: But I just can't concentrate on studying.

W: Come on. You spent much money on studying here.

M: That's what worries me so much. I wonder whether my parents can get my school fees for next year.

W: Oh, if that's the case, you can apply for a scholarship or loan. Now take it easy and things will turn out well.

Text 8

M: Which newspaper did you order this year?

W: Guardian and Mirror. What about you?

M: I ordered Guardian too. It's really an excellent newspaper. The technology section always informs me of up-to-date technological inventions in the world. And its national section lets me know about almost all the important things that happened or are happening in the UK.

W: You are right. Guardian is really one of the best newspapers in the UK. But its technology section isn't my cup of tea. I like the fashion and style section best.

M: Well, different people prefer different newspapers or its sections depending on their interests.

W: Do you read other newspapers besides Guardian?

M: Oh yes, as a major in business, I also read Business Weekly.

Text 9

M: Hey, Susan, is that you?

W: Jim ,wow! I can't believe it! It's good to see you!

M: You, too! What's it been? Something like ten years! You look great!

W: Thanks, you too! What have you been doing all this time since we graduated from college?

M: I never got married. And I have my own advertising agency, now.

W: Come on, Jim! You?

M: Really. I majored in marketing in college and afterwards got a job with an advertising agency. I worked my way up. And when I understood the business really well, I left to start my own agency.

W: Wow, that's pretty impressive.

M: Yes, So, anyway, what about you? You were the one who was going to travel the world and do your own thing.

W: Hah! But I am a housewife, and a mother of three. And when they leave home, I'm going to start my career-if it's not too late.

M: Well, come on! It's never too late.

Text 10

Here's the 6:00 o'clock news. More than one hundred people were killed late last night when a big fire swept through Rose Hotel on Market Street. Most of the guests were unable to escape from the hotel because there were no outside fire escapes. The hotel had obviously not been checked by safety officials for more than a year. It is believed that the fire was caused by a burning cigarette-end left by a guest, and when the fire broke out, both the alarm and the water systems were not working. Over two hundred guests were injured when they jumped from windows instead of waiting to be rescued by firemen.

A bus that was carrying more than 75 passengers overturned last night on Route 65, killing 7 passengers and injuring 35. The bus was designed to carry only 50 passengers. People are discovering why it was carrying more than its usual number and traveling at nearly 80 miles per hour. Many of the injured lay nearly two hours waiting for ambulances to arrive.
